Question 5 In the case where we move to a new building, I expect TD to perform better than Monte carlo learning.

Since TD performs on update at every step, and only the first step seems to have changed (starting building) with most of the rest of the episode similar to the older case, TD learning would work better.